

Looking for a break in the Yorkshire Dales with a difference?

How about a two centre break? Experiencing the delights and differences of the north and south dales

Cordilleras House, Richmond and Park Bottom, Litton have teamed up to offer guests the unique experience of two complementary centres.

Cordilleras House, Richmond is owned by Liz & Gez Cornish. Richmond is an ideal base to explore Swaledale, Wensleydale and the beautiful Georgian town of Richmond; complete with Norman castle, Georgian theatre, a sweeping cobbled market place and a good number of quality restaurants and tea rooms.

Park Bottom, Litton is owned by Phillip & Jane Sheard. Litton is immersed in the beauty and tranquillity of the 'secret' dale of Littondale (between Wharfedale and Malhamdale). Litton is a hidden gem in the southern dales and is an ideal base from which to explore Littondale, Wharfedale, the stunning scenery of Malham and the Yorkshire 3 Peaks. The market towns of Grassington, Skipton and Settle are all within easy reach of Park Bottom.

Both Bed & Breakfasts offer secure cycle storage, drying facilities and can provide hearty packed lunches if required.

Park Bottom and Cordilleras House lie just 40 miles apart; the journey between the two is just over an hour and passes through the lovely scenery of Wharfedale, Bishopdale, Wensleydale and Swaledale.

The two properties could not be more different. Cordilleras House is a three storey, Georgian Town House in the centre of Richmond, just 3 minutes walk from the market place. Park Bottom is a modern, stone property built from reclaimed stone from the old miner's cottages that formerly occupied the site; it is surrounded by the fields and fells of Littondale but with a village pub just a stone's throw away.

A holiday break divided between the two centres can offer a wonderful blend of town and country, north and south.
